DOCTOR FOUND DYING IN ROAD

Dr. Clarence S. Rether Found in Dying Condition Near Meadow Valley Stock Farm. Carried Into Barn.

Dr. Clarence Smith Rether, a Biglerville physician, was found lying unconscious in the road at Meadow Valley Stock Farm a short distance north of Gettysburg about 6:30 this morning and died a few minutes later, the result of alcoholism. He was aged about 58 years.

Dr. Rether appeared at the farm, tenanted by Leander M. Fanus, about seven o'clock Wednesday evening and talked for some time with members of the family. Later they retired thinking that he had left but this morning shortly after six o'clock they discovered his unconscious form in the road where he had evidently been lying all night, and through the rain and storm of the early morning hours.

Mr. Fanus had prepared to move today and, having no place in the house where the man could be cared for, Mr. Fanus decided to take him to the barn. This was done with the assistance of Howard Hartzell, Roy Schriver and John Orndorff. Dr. Rether died within a minute or two after the barn was reached.

Coroner Woerner was advised of the facts in the case and decided that no inquest was necessary.

For a number of years Dr. Rether practiced medicine in Biglerville and later went to Brunswick, Maryland. He returned from there six or seven years ago and had made his home in Biglerville with his father who died about a year ago. Since then he had lived alone.

He leaves a wife who resides in Hagerstown, and three children, Wendall Rether and Clarence Rether, of Hazleton, and a daughter, of Philadelphia. Two brothers also survive, Dr. Charles H. Rether, of Columbus, Ohio; and George Rether, of Baltimore.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

NEW OXFORD

New Oxford—A special election will be held in this place on Tuesday April 29 for the purpose of validating the present indebtedness of this school district. The action is said to be necessary on account of a legal irregularity in the authorization of this indebtedness caused by a misunderstanding of the new school code.

The New Oxford Shoe Manufacturing Company is said to be considering removal to another city owing to the failure to get sufficient and satisfactory labor in New Oxford. Persons connected with Hotel Oxford have missed several articles of value lately through the work of a sneak thief. Efforts are being made to apprehend the guilty party.

Edward S. Smith has returned home from Wilkesburg where he visited his mother and sisters. Miss Edna Smith accompanied him home.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Miller are spending two weeks at the home of Mrs. Miller's mother, Mrs. Blanche Heller at Millville.

SURPRISE PASTOR

Mr. and Mrs. Ott Given Surprise by Methodist Congregation.

On Wednesday evening, after prayer meeting, Rev. and Mrs. L. Dow Ott were given by the members of the church quite a surprise in the way of a reception, and by the presentation of many material tokens of esteem and joy over their re-appointment to this place. By the use of a little diplomacy they were detained after the prayer meeting, and the members repaired to the parsonage with their packages and baskets. A little later Mr. and Mrs. Ott came and found their house filled with an enthusiastic company to welcome them, and to give them a good start in the fifth year of their pastorate. All busied themselves with being sociable, and for a while the parsonage was a scene of enjoyment. The relations between this pastor's family and their people have been very pleasant, and such a launching of the new Conference year gives promise of continued hearty cooperation, and great success.

CAUSING MUCH ANXIETY HERE

Many Gettysburg People Have Relatives and Friends in Ohio Flood Districts. County People also Worried for Friends.

Much concern is felt in Gettysburg, Cashtown, York Springs and other Adams County communities for the safety of former residents who are now living in the flood-stricken districts of Ohio and Indiana among whom are the following:

Samuel Ackerman Troxell and three sons, Edward, Harry and Ralph Troxell, all well known in Gettysburg, are residents of Riverdale, the section of Dayton which suffered most severely from the flood. They are the father and three brothers of C. Wm. Troxell, of Hanover street. The father is a painter; Edward Troxell is a barber; Harry Troxell a superintendent in the factories of the National Cash Register Company; and Ralph Troxell is a structural iron worker.

Mrs. Norman S. Wolf, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Tawney of West Middle Street. Rev. Mr. Wolf has been pastor of a Lutheran church in Dayton but recently accepted a call to Reading and the family have been preparing for several weeks to move to the latter city. Mr. Wolf is a graduate of both college and seminary. It is thought that their home is not located in the portion of Dayton which the flood visited.

Mrs. D. Frank Garland is a daughter of Charles Comfort, of Baltimore street. Mr. and Mrs. Garland live in Dayton. Mr. Garland is also well known here and has been a frequent visitor to Gettysburg.

Charles A. Trostel, son of Hon. George H. Trostel, of York Springs, is cashier of the Herring Hall Marvin Safe & Lock Company at Hamilton, Ohio. Mr. Trostel was formerly in the employ of the First National Bank at this place.

Roy Deardorff, son of Adam Deardorff, of Cashtown, is also a resident of Hamilton and is assistant cashier in the plant with which Mr. Trostel is connected.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sullivan, formerly residents of Fairfield, have been living in Dayton for the past twenty-five years where Mr. Sullivan has had employment at the Soldiers' Home.

Grant Earnshaw, a son of the late Captain Earnshaw, of this place, has been living in Dayton for many years where he was in the merchandise business.

Mrs. Dicks, of Dayton, is a nephew of John Tawney of Baltimore street. Before marriage she was Miss Amelia Culp and is well known here where she often visited.

Edgar Biddle, a son of Edward Biddle formerly of Gettysburg, and a nephew of William Biddle, of Carlisle street, is a railroad telephone operator in Dayton. He formerly worked on the Berlin Branch and the family has many friends both here and in East Berlin.

Efforts were made by relatives and friends in Gettysburg and the county to get into communication with a number of these people on Wednesday and to-day but all telegraph messages are received subject to great delay and the condition of the lines has been made all the worse by the storm which visited here this morning so that early news of their safety is not likely.

There is some local interest attached to the flood at Miamisburg, Ohio. Dr. Peschau, a prominent Lutheran minister of that city, is well known in Gettysburg and his son attended college here for several months this year. It is said that both father and son are now in Europe.

The bill introduced in the Senate Wednesday to appropriate $50,000 for the relief of sufferers in Ohio was presented by Senator Herbst, of Berks County, who has a wide circle of friends in Gettysburg. The measure passed unanimously but was later recalled through a legal technicality and will be held over to next week.

KILLED PRETTY BIRD

Killed Bird of Rare Size and Beauty. Was on New Chester Dam.

Luther Pottorff, of New Chester, recently shot a beautiful white swan on Creager's Dam near that place. It weighed fourteen pounds and measured over six feet from tip to tip of wings. The bird was a beauty, the feathers being snow white and the bill and feet black.

MISS Anna Reck will show a line of children's and misses' hats on Saturday, March 29th advertisement. 1

HIGH WATER MARK IN ADAMS COUNTY

All Former Records Broken by Heavy Downpour of Rain which Took Creeks beyond Marks of Former Years.

Exceeding even the high water mark records made at the time of the Johnstown Flood, Adams County streams were swollen this morning to the greatest height in their history. Steady rains during the night which amounted almost to cloud-bursts at four, six and seven o'clock caused the sudden rise which in many sections made travel dangerous and at other places entirely precluded any possibility of crossing bridges over the main streams.

Rock Creek was swollen far beyond its banks and the bridge east of town could not be reached from either side. The Bonneauville bridge was threatened and the new Western Maryland bridge allowed traffic which would have been almost criminal over the old wooden trestle.

At eight o'clock Marsh Creek was two inches higher than its best mark at the time of the Johnstown disaster. Small foot bridges on Willoughby Run and other county streams were washed away early in the day though the big structures withstood the strain.

In Gettysburg conditions were the worst they have ever been known. The Tiber was the highest in its history. The college meadow was completely submerged and the land between Washington and Carlisle streets was under several feet of water. Culp Run was at its highest and "Sleepy Hollow" was badly flooded.

Cellars in all parts of town contained from six inches to several feet of water. Along Carlisle street a number of furnace fires were extinguished and pigs and chickens were liberated from buildings just in time to keep from being drowned. They could be seen for several hours afterward roaming about the streets.

Accompanying the rain was heavy wind and the water came in driving torrents. There were three distinct storms, the first occurring shortly before four o'clock and continuing for a quarter of an hour. At six o'clock a second downpour occurred and again at seven o'clock. People in all sections were awakened and many a town roof failed to perform its functions of keeping out the water so that garrets as well as cellars saw the effects of the rain.

The damage in the county is said to be confined almost entirely to washed out fields but here the loss will be heavy. Stock was in a place of safety in almost every instance and there was little loss from this source.

Roads were heavily washed and travel in some sections was practically impossible until late in the day. Those who had planned their spring flittings were compelled to postpone them, rural mail carriers were confronted with the usual difficulties, and others who had contemplated trips for the day were compelled in most instances to postpone them.

WALTER'S-WIZARD

Mr. Walter again Assumes Control of Local Playhouse.

The Wizard Theatre, for several years under the management of N. S. Heindel and D. J. Forney, passed today into the hands of John F. Walter, the owner of the building who will conduct the place under the name of Walter's-Wizard. Mr. Walter contemplates some extensive changes in the conduct of the house which will likely be planned in a week or two when announcement will be made.

FRECKLES

Good Play Booked for Walter's Theatre, Tuesday, April 2.

The exchanges from nearby cities where "Freckles" has been played are enthusiastic in their praise of play, players and the beautiful scenic equipment with which the play has been mounted. Full houses seem to have been the rule in nearly all of the other cities and the result will doubtless be the same here. At Walter's Theatre on Wednesday, April 2. advertisement.

DESERTION CHARGE

ENGINE USED AS A PATROL

Alleged Train Riders Arrested and Placed on Engine. Quick Run to Town. Parties now Cutting Wood at Lock-up.

Conveyed in an engine, pressed into service as a patrol wagon, Thomas Ryan and Thomas Burns were brought into Gettysburg late Wednesday afternoon by a Philadelphia and Reading detective and turned over to Officers Shealer and Edmunds who placed them in the village lock-up.

Several nights ago freight cars at the local Reading station were entered and some articles stolen. Railroad detectives were put on the case and in their investigations found that Ryan and Burns were stealing rides on freights. The two men were discovered near Oak Ridge on Wednesday afternoon and an engine was quickly pressed into service. A hurry trip was made and Burns and Ryan were soon on their way back to town. They were not given very comfortable quarters as sitting room was at a premium but the ride was brief and the local police started the parade to the village bastille shortly afterward.

Once that stern and forbidding structure was reached the couple were shown their sleeping quarters for the next few nights and then taken to the terrace in the rear where they were allowed to inspect the pile of store boxes recently captured in an early morning raid by Officer Emmons. Spare moments will be devoted to converting these bits of furniture into kindling and Ryan and Burns will have ample occupation for their idle moments when they are not reading the newspapers, a month or two old, which are provided for their enlightenment by kindly-minded authorities.

MUCH DAMAGE

Houses Unroofed, Bridges Carried Away And Orchards Damaged.

One of the fiercest wind and rain storms for years passed over the Blue Ridge Mountain section Wednesday. The rain fell in torrents.

Considerable damage was done by wind at Highfield. The roof of the Lake View Hotel, owned by Mrs. Rasche, of Baltimore, at Lake Royer, was blown off and landed in a field 500 yards away. Several boards were also torn from the building and were hurled against a chimney on the house occupied by Jacob Moore half a mile away demolishing it.

A house belonging to Mrs. T. A. Wastler, at Cascade, was moved off its foundation. The foot-bridge that spans Lake Royer was blown away and has not yet been located. The large barn of E. J. Wade, at Buena Vista station, was demolished and many trees in the orchard of Mrs. Nichols, Cascade, were uprooted. Ice houses belonging to the Buena Vista Ice Company were badly damaged.

It is also reported in Waynesboro that much damage was done in Smithburg, and that two houses were blown down.

DAYTON NOW IN FLAMES; THE DEATH LIST GROWS

The Governor Says 2000 Are Dead.

250,000 ARE HOMELESS

Peru and Logansport, Ind., Also Under Water.

PROPERTY LOSS MILLIONS

Persons Who Escaped Rushing Waters in Dayton Reported to Be Burning to Death, With No Means at Hand to Save Them—Death List in Other Cities Will Reach Appalling Figures.

Columbus, O., March 27.—The business district of Dayton, O., is burning, according to the latest bulletins from the isolated, flood stricken city, and Governor Cox has appealed to the natural gas companies to reduce the pressure, as it is said the gas is feeding the flames.

Marooned survivors of the flood are reported to be leaping from roof to roof to escape death by burning. There are from 500 to 2000 dead in Dayton, according to Governor Cox's secretary, who has arrived in the city, but these estimates are based largely on conjecture.

Reports from cities in other parts of Ohio show conditions to be much worse than they were on Tuesday. Zanesville, on the Muskegon river, is reported entirely under water, and it is feared there will be heavy loss of life there and farther down the valley.

The Lewistown reservoir is reported to be weakening and great alarm is felt.

Tiffin, in the northwestern part of the state, reports fifty dead. Mount Vernon, in the eastern part, is submerged, with 100 dead, and an unconfirmed report says Mansfield, with a population of 4000, south of Dayton, has been swept away.

In Indiana the heaviest sufferer is Peru, with 300 dead, property loss of $2,500,000, and thousands homeless.

Railroad traffic in both states is entirely suspended, except on the Lake Shore line in the north and the Baltimore & Ohio in the south.

With 250,000 persons homeless in Ohio and many thousands more in Indiana, a ready response from federal agencies met the appeal of President Wilson for assistance for the flood sufferers. Secretary of War Garrison ordered the immediate dispatch to Columbus and other points in Ohio of tents for 10,000 persons, 100 hospital tents and food sufficient to feed 100,000 persons for ten days. Medical supplies will be sent to flood points, including vaccine points and a large number of doses of anti-typhoid vaccine as a precaution against the outbreak of the pestilence.

Fire Adds Horrors to Flood.

Fire is adding its horrors to the devastation wrought by the flood at Dayton, and more received from that city was that a disastrous conflagration is raging in the center of the city. Thousands of persons are marooned in buildings in that region, unable to escape because the streets are still filled with water, and unless the flames quickly burn out an appalling calamity will occur.

The fire has attacked the Beekel house, where 250 guests have been marooned since Tuesday morning. It is impossible to combat the flames and the hotel seems doomed, with all its inmates.

Governor Cox received word from Dayton that the entire business section of the city is on fire and that indications are that it will be entirely destroyed.

People are reported to be jumping from roof to roof of buildings keeping up the way of the flames.

The fire destroyed buildings between St. Clair and Jefferson streets on the north side of East Main street and threatened to destroy a big portion of the business section.

A message from the Western Union operator at Wolf Creek, which is only a few miles from Dayton, says: "There has been an explosion in the middle of Dayton and the town is on fire and the loss of life has been increased. People are burning up and we have no way to get to them or the fire either, now."

A further message from Wolf Creek says: "Every hour or so explosions occur in Dayton due to fires. The conditions are simply frightful and indescribable."

The fire is reported to have started from the explosion of an oil tank containing hundreds of gallons and which bumped into a submerged building near Fourth and Jefferson streets.

The fire started in a row of buildings on Third street, between Main and Jefferson streets, next to the library building. This point is two squares south of the Phillips house. The fire is burning south.

The report of the fire came from Wire Chief Green, of the Bell Telephone company, who says the fire is now within a block of the telephone exchange, in which is located John Bell, who for more than twenty-four hours has kept the outside world informed as best he could of the catastrophe in Dayton.

Many of the buildings on the right side of the river were so insecure that they had left their foundations within an hour. What were blocks of thickly populated one and two-story residences, populated mostly by foreigners, are only shattered lumber. They are believed to contain many bodies. Every effort has been made to reach houses containing living persons.

It appears certain that no part of the district under water escaped contributing its toll to the flood. Mr. Bell said that he had seen two bodies floating in the waters along the shore in the south side residence district. Rescuers from time to time saw a body disappearing in the flood.

All of the buildings available have been filled with cots and means for providing food for the sufferers.

The crop of flood babies was increased by two, making five little ones to be born in the hospital rooms of a factory within twenty-four hours.

More than 70,000 persons either were unable to reach their homes or held in their waterlogged houses and were unable to reach land.

No communication could be established with those in the commercial district and any attempt to say whether any or all of them were drowned is the merest conjecture. It is supposed most of the fatalities occurred on the west and north sides of the river where the wall of water rushed in suddenly with the breaking of the levee.

The immediate pressing need is for food and medical supplies. The great demand for food exhausted the emergency supplies in the outskirts of the city and survivors now are depending entirely on what may be brought in during the day. Fear is anticipated that typhoid may result from the use of the river water.

Famine Faces Survivors.

The flooded district comprises a practical circle with a radius of a mile and a half, and in no place was the water less than six feet deep. In Main street, in the downtown section, it was twenty feet deep.

Most of the business houses and nearly all of the residences have occupants. Downtown the offices were filled with men, fathers unable to get home, and the upper floors and on some of the roofs of the residences were helpless women and children. Hundreds of houses, substantial buildings in the residence districts, many of them with helpless occupants, have been washed away.

The St. Elizabeth hospital, with 600 patients, was reported to have been washed away. The buildings were known to be in many feet of water.

Famine became an immediate possibility. All of the supply and grocery houses are in the submerged district, and it was said there was not enough bread to last the survivors another day.

While those marooned in the offices and hotels are in no immediate danger of drowning, there is no way food or drinking water can reach them until the flood recedes. Those in the residences, however, are in constant danger, both by flood and fire.

When the flood came the frail buildings were swept into the stream, many showing the faces of women and children peering from the windows. These were followed by more substantial brick buildings, until it became evident that no house in the flood was safe. The houses as a rule lasted but a few blocks before breaking up. The flood came soon after day light Tuesday morning after the residents had spent the night in terror.

The levee broke in a dozen places and a wall of water ten feet deep swept through the main street just above the junction of the Big Miami and the Mad river, and where the water of the Stillwater river poured into the Miami the flood reached its height and rolled into the business section. The Dayton News was soon under twenty feet of water. The flood rose to the second floor of the Algonquin hotel and all along Main street the occupants were driven to the third floors.

Ohio House Votes That Sum For the Sufferers.

Columbus, Ohio, March 27.—The house, under a suspension of the rules, immediately passed a bill introduced by Mr. Lowry for the relief of the flood sufferers.

It carries $250,000, and this entire sum is placed in the hands of the governor for his distribution as he deems fit. The bill carries the emergency clause so it goes into effect immediately upon its passage.

Pennsylvania Gives $50,000.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 27.—The senate unanimously passed a resolution providing for the forwarding of $50,000 to the flood sufferers of Ohio.

The vote by which the resolution passed the senate was reconsidered immediately after and the resolution was referred to the judiciary general committee. This was done because the resolution was not in proper form. A bill will be drafted to carry the appropriation.

WILSON CALLS ON NATION TO AID FLOOD SUFFERERS

"The terrible floods in Ohio and Indiana have assumed the proportions of a national calamity. The loss of life and the infinite suffering involved prompt me to issue an earnest appeal to all who are able, in however a small way, to assist the labors of the American Red Cross to send contributions at once to the Red Cross at Washington or to the local treasurers of the society.

"We should make this a common cause. The needs of those upon whom this sudden and overwhelming disaster has come should quicken every one capable of sympathy and compassion to give immediate aid to those who are laboring to rescue and relieve."

"WOODROW WILSON."

The president also sent the following telegram to both Governor Ralston at Indianapolis and Governor Cox at Columbus, Ohio:

"I deeply sympathize with the people of your state in the terrible disaster that has come upon them. Can the federal government assist in any way?"

FLOOD IN WESTERN PENNA.

Situation in Entire Allegheny Valley Is Serious.

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 27.—Oil City and the entire Allegheny valley is stricken with the most serious flood in the history of this section of the state.

Oil creek, which flows into the Allegheny river at Oil City, is rising at the alarming rate of three inches an hour.

The river gauge at Oil City registered twenty feet, the highest ever known. Normally there is only a foot or two of water there, and for several months of the year the river bed is dry. Business at Oil City is at a standstill, as the entire business section is under water.

Considerable anxiety was experienced in Oil City over the large quantities of gasoline and oil which covered the surface of the creek and river. The oil was about 4000 barrels, washed away from the Carmania Refinery company's plant.

As the oil flowed down the surface of the waters it was feared that there would be a repetition of the disaster of June 5, 1892, when, during a similar flood, the entire surface of the river was ablaze with oil that had ignited. A large number of lives were lost at that time.

When the residents were notified of the escaping oil they rushed to the river banks. Then the local company of the National Guard was called out to drive them back, roping off the entire section lining the rivers.

Newspapers and industrial plants at Oil City are shut down by flooded power rooms. Fires are prohibited and railroad locomotives were ordered to extinguish their fires to avoid any danger of igniting the oil.

No lives have been reported lost in the vicinity of Oil City.

Say 150 Dead at Delaware, O.

Delaware, O., March 27.—Rescue work continued in the flooded district and the list of those believed dead was changed from time to time.

Several reported dead were found and others believed saved were reported dead. However, the list of dead probably will reach forty or fifty. Because of meager reports from the main business section of Delaware the exact number is unknown.

Those marooned on house roofs and in the tree tops are still alive, although many of them had no food for twenty-eight to thirty-five hours.

150 Dead at Columbus.

Columbus, O., March 27.—At least 150 persons were drowned in Columbus as a result of the flooded Scioto river, according to reports from the flooded west side section of the city.

The reports came as a result of a partial restoration of telephone communication with the West Side. Many persons who are considered conservative, assert that they saw scores of bodies float down the stream and dozens of persons carried away in their house.

Eleven Drowned at Fremont, Ohio.

Sandusky, O., March 27.—Later reports increased the list of drowned at Fremont, O., to eleven. The water in the main street is fifteen feet deep. This city has sent the special train with lifeboats and crews to Tiffin, O., where flood conditions are bad.

POPE CELEBRATES MASS

Physicians Express Satisfaction With His Condition.

Rome, March 27.—Pope Pius X. celebrated mass. He administered communion to the members of the household.

The physicians in attendance expressed satisfaction with his condition. They, however, advised him to maintain caution. It was decided that on April 3 the pope would receive some of the bishops, and on April 4 give his first collective audience since he was taken ill.

Social Surgery.

The newly rich dame took her daughter to a fashionable school and interviewed the haughty principal.

"I want my daughter to learn to act as if she had moved in aristocratic circles all her life," she explained.

"I will," nuzzled the principal. "And are you willing to be separated from her that long?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

DEAD IN INDIANA MAY BE OVER 1000

The Whole State is in Grip of Flood.

SURVIVORS ARE SUFFERING

A revised estimate places the dead at 1000 in Indiana, but many communities are cut off, and the exact total cannot be learned.

Peru, on the Wabash river, seems to have suffered the worst. Between 200 and 400 persons were caught there by the current and were drowned, according to a telegram received by Governor Ralston from the mayor of Peru. All the survivors of the town took refuge on a hilltop. They are homeless. The buildings not destroyed are hopelessly damaged and untenable.

Food and water famines prevail in some districts. Railroad traffic in many sections is at a standstill. Hundreds of buildings and bridges were carried away.

Before the crest of the flood is reached the number of dead may go over 1000. More than 200,000 persons are homeless throughout the state. The money loss is at least $25,000,000.

Mayor Charles E. Goetz, of South Bend, received an official report that 300 persons were drowned at Peru, that no bodies had been recovered and that there was less than one block of the entire city that was not under water.

The report was telephoned to Mayor Goetz by the relief party sent from South Bend, which reached the outskirts of Peru. It was a small party that only two feet of the upper parts of the houses in the submerged district could be seen; that the court house, the hospital and some factory buildings were crowded with survivors in need of food, and that Governor Ralston had been asked to send more supplies from Fort Wayne.

Mayor Goetz, who had been informed of conflicting reports about the loss of life, said he accepted the report from the relief party as official.

"The messages stated definitely that at least 300 were drowned," said Mayor Goetz. "That seems to leave little doubt that the loss of life is great. I can't conceive that those in charge of the relief party would overestimate the loss."

Twelve bodies were recovered in a single house in the southern part of Peru. This was taken to indicate that the loss of life in that section of the city was great, as it was there that dwellings were completely submerged before the occupants could vacate.

It was reported that six survivors were suffocated in the overcrowded court house. The weather has turned severely cold, adding to the misery. If the unsheltered, but the flood is falling rapidly.

In the belief that most of the 16,000 people of Peru were hungry, Mayor Goetz started out another relief train loaded with 3000 loaves of bread, representing the output of all the South Bend bakeries and hotels. Barrels of salt meat, condensed milk, the eggs of all the grocery stores in town, a carload of apples, gasoline stoves, lanterns and some clothing also were sent.

Information was telephoned to Mayor Goetz by Patrick A. Joyce, city controller of South Bend, who was in charge of the first relief party. Mr. Joyce said that 5000 persons were camped out without shelter in a park on a hill, that a small court house is crowded with 1000 survivors, the hospital with 1000 more, and that 300 children are imprisoned in a school house. No fires are allowed to be lighted and the women and children are suffering intensely from the cold and dampness.

From what seems to be authentic information fourteen are known to have been drowned in West Indianapolis as the result of the breaking of the Morris street levee. Rescuers say that a family of six, consisting of the father, mother and four children, are dead in their home. No effort is being made to bring the bodies out, as every means is being used to get the women and children, who in many cases are either standing on the second floors of their homes or have gone to the house-tops and are suffering from the cold.

Families in one-story houses were at the mercy of the sudden rush of water that followed the breaks in the levees. It is believed that the bodies of these, who are supposed to have been trapped in the houses, will be found when the waters recede. Various estimates are made in West Indianapolis as to the loss of life, but the prevailing opinion is that not less than 200 persons must have drowned.

100 Lives Lost in Mount Vernon.

Columbus, O., March 27.—The electric engineering department of the Ohio State University received this message via wireless from Mount Vernon: "Great floods; 100 lives lost; all lines down; outside world cut off; thousands of dollars' damage done; Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio rail roads' miles of track washed out. Mt. Vernon."

ALLIES TAKE ADRIANOPLE

Capture Turkish Stronghold After Long Siege.

SOME DESPERATE FIGHTING

The Allies Rushed the Last Works of Turks in Face of Terrific Fire. Flames Destroying City.

London, March 27.—After two days' desperate fighting Tchatalja has fallen into the hands of the Bulgarians, according to a telegram received by the Bulgarian legation at London.

Sofia, March 27.—Adrianople has fallen. The Bulgarian war office gave out that information.

The fall of the Turkish holy city, which probably will speedily end the long Balkan war, followed a general assault by the Bulgarians and Serbians.

According to the report the Third Bulgarian division entered the city and took formal possession. Before they surrendered the Turks blew up several powder magazines and fuel houses.

It was reported that Adrianople was in flames in a dozen places and that the inhabitants were fleeing in every direction. There was danger that the city would be destroyed.

Accounts from the front said that the Bulgarians bayoneted hundreds of Turks, who were engaged in firing houses and blowing up powder magazines.

The Bulgarians and Servians entered the city after hours of desperate fighting and a display of valor seldom equalled in modern warfare. They rushed the last works of the Turkish defenders in the face of a terrific fire and won their way into the city in hand to hand encounters.

The Bulgarian Shipka regiment won the honor of being the first to enter the city.

Shukri Pasha, the Turkish commander, it is reported, killed himself. The entire garrison was captured.

The fall of Adrianople is by far the most notable single event that has marked the war of the Balkan states against Turkey and may readily lend itself to the conclusion of peace along the lines marked out by the European powers.

The siege has been one of the most notable in modern warfare, taking rank after that of Port Arthur in the Russo-Japanese war. It has been in progress since the end of last October, a period of five months, which have been marked by an almost incessant bombardment from the heavy Bulgarian siege guns, many assaults and some sorties by the Turkish garrison.

Bodies of Tornado's Victims Given Last Rites.

Omaha, Neb., March 27. — Burying the dead and the work of reconstruction now occupies the tornado-stricken city of Omaha.

Paying the last rites occupied the time of thousands of persons during the day. Many of the bodies recovered from the wrecks of Sunday's storm were cared for at undertaking establishments and a greater number of the 100 or more funerals were held from those places. Friends of many stricken families took care of bodies and had them prepared for burial. Others were sent to out-of-town relatives.

In many instances churches were demolished in the districts covered by the storm and others were so badly wrecked as to prevent them being used for burial services. During the night the work of rescue continued. Only one body was reported recovered, that of another negro, buried in the idlewild pool hall wreckage. The authorities are taking steps to uncover the place at once and remove any bodies buried there.

The real estate exchange has taken steps to prevent the raising of rents. Already cases of alleged attempted extortion have been reported. Executives of the exchange decided to deal harshly with any owners found taking advantage of the tornado victims.

Hundreds of persons from all over the state, unable to hear from relatives, have come to Omaha seeking news. Many persons known to have been in the vicinity of that portion of the city missing by the storm have been reported missing, and everything possible is being done to locate them. Plans for the immediate rebuilding of the wrecked district are now being worked out by a big company of the business men of Omaha. A corporation is being formed to handle this work systematically and assist those who lost their homes and personal effects. This institution will begin at once the task of at least partially reconstructing many homes.
